² The Total Expense Ratio (TER) is calculated as a percentage of the average NAV of the portfolio incurred as charges, levies and fees in the management of the portfolio for a rolling 3-year period to end June 2016. A higher TER ratio does not necessarily imply a poor return nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current disclosed TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

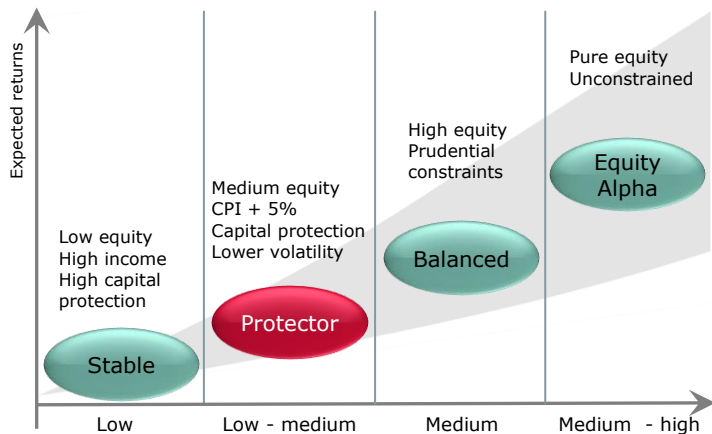

³ Transaction Costs (TC) are a necessary cost in administering the Financial Product and impacts Financial Product returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Financial Product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

* For illustrative purposes only.

The Kagiso Protector Fund is Regulation 28 compliant and can invest in a variety of domestic and international asset classes (such as equities, listed property, conventional bonds, inflation-linked bonds and cash). It is positioned in our team's best investment ideas - which emanate from our bottom-up research process - and is actively managed to reduce volatility and downside risk. Derivative strategies are employed.

This fund is suitable for investors looking for exposure to the long-term inflation-beating characteristics of equities, with reduced downside exposure and volatility and a strong focus on capital preservation.

Our investment philosophy

At Kagiso Asset Management, we make investment decisions based on mispricings we observe in the market. Simply put, we buy investments that are priced well below their intrinsic values and avoid those that we believe are overpriced.

Opportunities arise when market prices deviate from intrinsic value

All investments represent a set of future cash flows, which can be valued with reasonable accuracy. Over time, this intrinsic value progresses at a fairly stable pace. Asset prices, however, fluctuate considerably through time. This is largely due to self-reinforcing cycles of enthusiasm or negativity, often fuelled by an excessive focus on near-term data and news flow.

Our aim is to identify and exploit mispricings in the markets. We therefore buy investments at prices well below our estimation of their intrinsic value and hold them, while they deliver strong cash returns and until they can be sold above this value. Once sold, we avoid such overvalued investments for as long as the market price is above the intrinsic value.

The future is never certain

We recognise that there is considerable danger in operating with the comfort of a false sense of certainty and the accompanying behavioural reinforcement cycles that lead to a distorted evaluation of new information. As a result, we understand that despite our best efforts, we cannot possibly know all the facts.

This drives us to think more deeply, to work harder and to be more alert. We therefore view the future in terms of probabilities, we explore alternative scenarios, diversify our positions, hedge risk and seek out potential asymmetries.

The Kagiso unit trust fund range is offered by Kagiso Collective Investments Limited (Kagiso), registration number 2010/009289/06. Kagiso is a member of the Association for Savings and Investment SA (ASISA) and is a registered management company in terms of the Collective Investment Schemes Control Act, No 45 of 2002. Kagiso is a subsidiary of Kagiso Asset Management (Pty) Limited [a licensed financial services provider (FSP No. 784)], the investment manager of the unit trust funds.

Unit trusts are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units will fluctuate and past performance should not be used as a guide for future performance. Kagiso does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of the portfolio(s). Foreign securities may be included in the portfolio(s) and may result in potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds. In addition, macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax and settlement risks may apply. However, our robust investment process takes these factors into account. Unit trusts are traded at ruling prices and can engage in scrip lending and borrowing. Exchange rate movements, where applicable, may affect the value of underlying investments. Different classes of units may apply and are subject to different fees and charges. A schedule of the maximum fees, charges and commissions is available upon request. Commission and incentives may be paid, and if so, would be included in the overall costs. Kagiso may close a portfolio to new investors in order to manage it more effectively in accordance with its mandate.

The fund returned 2.7% for the second quarter of 2016. The fund benefited from strong performance in some of our highest conviction ideas and benefited from the opportunities presented in the volatility of the prior December. The fund has returned 10.1% pa since inception in 2011, ahead of both cash and inflation.

Economic and market overview

On the global front, the unexpected "leave" outcome of the UK referendum on EU membership caused significant market turbulence towards the end of the quarter. The actual effects will only be known after a period of complex and prolonged exit negotiations. There will likely be negative growth implications for the UK and Europe and a smaller impact on the rest of the world.

In the aftermath of the UK referendum there was a flight to safety, with increases in gold, safe haven currencies (US dollar, yen, Swiss franc) and developed market bonds. We continue to believe that asset prices are generally high, which makes markets vulnerable to stress events and normal cyclical economic slowdowns.

The US economy continues to strengthen, despite weak data in May. Market expectations for rate hikes have been pushed out further this quarter (at most one further hike expected at the end of the year), seemingly because of the weak global economy and the Brexit vote. The European economy continues to stagnate, despite huge central bank stimulus.

Emerging markets are also weak, but are showing signs that the worst is behind them. India continues to show strength, China benefited from a new dose of stimulus, while Russia and Brazil remain very weak.

In South Africa, the first quarter GDP growth rate (year on year contraction of 0.6%) was particularly disappointing. Mining and agriculture (10% of GDP) was down 10%, while manufacturing and construction (20% of GDP) was down 1%. It is particularly concerning that the very weak rand seems to have very little beneficial impact on the production side of the economy. The tertiary sector (70% of the economy) is still serving as the powerhouse of our economy and only managed to grow by 1%. This trade and services part of the economy is, however, coming under increasing cyclical pressure with rapidly slowing consumer spending growth and a deteriorating credit cycle.

The local equity market gained 0.4% over the quarter. After a prolonged period of significant weakness, we have now had two successive quarters of resource sector outperformance (up 6.4% this quarter). The platinum sector held on to significant gains from the previous quarter and outperformed the market (up 5.1%), with a moderately stronger rand platinum price (up 2.8%).

Financials (down 4.3%) underperformed, with UK-exposed firms particularly hard hit (Investec and Capital and Counties were down 17%). A flat performance from industrials (up 0.5%) masks significant stock divergence. Notable strong performers included Tongaat Hulett (up 13.1%) and Telkom (up 20.1% on good results). The retailers were weak (Shoprite, Woolworths and Truworths were down between 4% and 13%) as deteriorating local economic prospects were absorbed into their high ratings. A notable exception was Mr Price (up 18.7%) on resilient results. Amongst the industrial heavyweights: Naspers (up 8.6%), MTN (up 5.7%), and British American Tobacco (up 9.1%) showed solid performances, whilst SABMiller (down 5.5%) and Richemont (down 13%) lagged.

Bonds outperformed equities (ALBI was up 4.4%), as well as cash (up 1.8%) this quarter. The bond rally since the dramatically oversold levels of December 2015 (up 10.3%) has been substantial, but has not been as a result of economic improvements or waning idiosyncratic risk. South Africa's economic risks remain high, given weak growth, high unemployment and a worsening fiscus.

Fund performance and positioning

Key stock contributors this quarter were Naspers, Equites and Tongaat Hulett. FirstRand, Old Mutual and Capco detracted.

We reduced bond exposure profitably during the quarter, as strong foreign appetite for local bonds compressed yields. Capital was deployed into shorter duration deposits which are now offering attractive risk-adjusted yields. Our remaining longer-dated bond exposure is balanced by shorter duration corporate bonds with strong credit quality, where valuations remain attractive with yields at healthy spreads above expected inflation. The fund's exposure to preference shares was a positive contributor this quarter.

Foreign stock selection was mixed this quarter, with notable detractors being UK healthcare group, Spire, UK property company, Hammerson, and Dutch electric technology company, Philips. Contributors to performance were Japanese multinational internet corporation, Softbank, American corrugated packaging company, Westrock, and the Austrian/German residential property landlord, Buwog. Post the UK referendum we have purchased a basket of attractively valued high quality European financials, particularly insurers.

On the local side, specialist industrial property fund, Equites Property Fund, has been a strong performer over the quarter in our funds. Logistical excellence has become vital for industrial corporates in South Africa, particularly in the very competitive consumer facing sectors. This has caused a structural need for well-located and optimally designed distribution centres. Equites Property Fund has built a competitive advantage in designing, financing, building and managing these specialist properties and is very well positioned to benefit from these structural trends. The share provides our clients with a solid revenue stream from a well-diversified mix of tenants, which are mainly large multinationals and JSE-listed corporates. There is also future growth expected from development projects, brownfield expansions (the current Foschini Group distribution centre expansion) as well as partnering opportunities with other general property funds.

We continue to apply our process and valuation-driven philosophy with focus and discipline, currently positioning the fund very differently to the market and competing funds. We are maintaining a conservative positioning, with substantial equity hedging in place, maximum offshore exposure, defensive precious metal ETF holdings and low duration yield asset exposure. The performance year to date has been very encouraging and market volatility and geopolitical events are creating exciting opportunities to position our funds in significantly undervalued shares with strong prospects for superior returns.
