Kagiso Stable Fund

March 2019

Date of issue: 29 April 2019

This fund is Regulation 28 compliant and can invest in a wide variety of domestic and international asset classes (such as equities, listed property, conventional bonds, inflation-linked bonds and cash). As the fund aims to maximise returns, it will have a strong bias towards equities - typically the asset class with the highest expected long-term returns. The fund is positioned in our team's best ideas - which emanate from our bottom-up research process - and is actively managed to maximise long-term returns without assuming excess risk of loss.

March 2019

The fund was up 3.8% this quarter, comfortably beating its (CPI +2%) benchmark of 1.6%. This was mainly due to positive performance from our yield assets and very good local equity stock selection. The fund has returned 9.1% pa over the last three years, well ahead of its benchmark of 6.5% pa. It is ranked first in its category and, since inception in 2011, the fund has returned 8.5% pa.

Economic backdrop

Global economic growth has decelerated from recent very high rates, but remains healthy, albeit with some notable weak spots such as Europe. Strengthening developed region labour markets are providing support to consumer expenditure. Inflation rate normalization to higher levels has stalled somewhat. Key central banks have therefore paused their slow tightening measures and are signaling a more accommodative monetary policy if economic data deteriorate.

The trade war initiated by the US continues to have an impact on trade activity (front loading of orders in advance of tariff implementation and direct reductions in certain categories) and seems to be dampening business confidence.

Above trend growth for the US economy is continuing this year, but fiscal stimulus support has begun to taper off. In Europe and Japan, growth has decelerated, primarily due to weaker export related activity, particularly related to China.

Chinese government measures to rebalance the economy, reign in credit excesses and reduce pollution resulted in a marked deceleration in infrastructure and manufacturing-related growth in 2018. Authorities have responded with domestic stimulus, which seems to have brought a stabilisation in growth, albeit at the expense of necessary de-gearing. There is more divergence in growth rates amongst emerging economies based on relative fundamentals. Fairly strong growth is expected in Poland, Brazil, India and Emerging Asia, with positive inflation and interest rate outlooks. Laggards, Argentina, Turkey (contracting) and South Africa (very low growth), remain weak.

The South African economy continues to experience very weak economic growth, particularly with contracting investment and lacklustre consumption growth (wage settlements have moderated meaningfully lower and employment is stagnant).

Market review

Aside from administered prices, domestic inflationary pressures are subdued as second-round effects from higher electricity and fuel prices are offset by decelerating wage settlements. Policy rates were unchanged this quarter with the market pricing in a 50% probability of a 0.25% rate cut by year-end.

Global markets rebounded strongly this quarter (up 12.6% in dollar terms) erasing most of last quarter's losses with the USA (up 13.6%), the UK (up 11.6%) and France (up 11.1%) outperforming. Emerging markets (up 10.0% in dollar terms) were generally strong, particularly China (up 17.7%).

Locally, the equity market was positive this quarter (up 8.0%) with resources (up 16.2%) outperforming - platinum miners and general miners were strong (up 49.7% and 22.4% respectively). Standout positive performers included Impala Platinum (up 66.3%) and Northam Platinum (up 46.8%).

Industrials were up 8.8%, with heavyweights British American Tobacco (up 27.4%), Naspers (up 15.2%) and Richemont (up 11.8%) contributing positively. Retailers - Massmart (down 23.2%), Mr. Price (down 22%) and Truworths down (21.2%) – underperformed and Aspen (down 31.0%) was also particularly weak.

Financials (down 0.5%) underperformed, with JSE, Nedbank and Sanlam very weak (down 20.2%, 8.5% and 7.6% respectively) and Quilter (up 25.1%) and Capitec (up 20.8%) outperforming.

For a number of years, extreme, unconventional monetary stimulus, in the form of price agnostic asset purchases, has distorted asset prices across the globe. Global bond yields remain very low (pricing in exceedingly low levels of future long-term inflation), corporate bond credit spreads are depressed and equity prices are still fairly high, especially in sectors where growth prospects are well appreciated.

Global bond rates have risen from the record low levels of 2016, accompanied by tentative signs of rising inflation, particularly in the US (although bond rates have retreated in the last six months). Importantly, the rate of total global central bank asset purchases peaked in early 2017 and is steadily reducing as monetary stimulus programs are withdrawn (although the expected pace of reduction is now somewhat slower than previously). These conditions are bringing about a more normal (higher) level of market volatility and a welcome increase in dispersion across equities, as well as across asset classes – a better environment for stock pickers.

Fund performance and positioning

Within the yield assets, our holdings in local bonds, preference shares and cash contributed positively, with a negative contribution from property. Strong stock selection from our local equity holdings was the primary positive performance contributor this quarter.

Strong local equity contributors this quarter were Quilter, Northam Platinum and Naspers and, once again, some of our high conviction mid-cap holdings: Clover, Datatec, AECI and Metair. Key detractors were Tongaat Hulett and Delta Property Fund.

Our global equity holdings contributed to performance with key positives being JD.Com, Brightsphere Investment Group, Altran Technologies and Kinder Morgan. Just Group, Goodyear and Bayer, however, underperformed.

We maintain a diversified mix of our top ranked equity ideas, including an associated equity market hedge and some exposure to foreign equities and certain local property stocks. We have a large exposure to preference shares and short-term credit instruments.

Despite a global backdrop of reasonable economic growth, eventually tightening monetary policy, risks of negative disruptions as Chinese economic growth continues to trend lower and a local market facing a very weak economy, we remain positive on the outlook for our stock holdings, given attractive valuations.

We are optimistic that more normal financial conditions are proving to be a much better environment for stock picking. We retain a particularly high exposure to a selection of local mid-cap stocks which offer compelling upside from a number of diverse stock specific factors that are providing positive performance, uncorrelated to the general market. An example of this is Northam Platinum.

Northam is a medium sized Platinum Group Metals (PGM) producer that is expanding by adding low cost, mechanised production over the next three years. This expansion was made possible by a capital raise via a successful BEE deal and the business was able to buy stressed assets at the bottom of the cycle for a fraction of their replacement cost. Northam is also a large chrome producer and will grow chrome production as it expands, which will significantly add to revenues with minimal additional cost (a massive boost to profitability relative to peers). We believe that the relatively low cost operations have positioned the business to generate significant returns on investments into the future.
